Inquests

Fiona provides comprehensive guidance, advice, and representation throughout the inquest process, whether supporting the family of the deceased or representing a company or authority involved in the investigation.

She plays an active role in the pre-inquest stages, including attending conferences and hearings, reviewing forensic medical evidence, and analysing records.

With extensive experience handling complex cases involving expert testimony—from pathologists and scientists to accident investigators—Fiona is well-equipped to navigate intricate legal matters. Her strong background in regulatory and criminal law enables her to advise and represent clients facing potential criminal, disciplinary, or civil proceedings.

She has acted on behalf of a diverse range of interested parties, including families, businesses, healthcare providers, insurance companies, and professionals such as prison officers, police officers, midwives, nurses, pharmacists, and doctors.

Fiona offers both written and in-person legal advice and has a deep understanding of the legal framework governing inquests, including the Coroners (Inquests) Rules 2013, Chief Coroner's Guidance, and relevant case law.

Beyond the Bar

Interests range from keeping fit by running, cycling, playing tennis and struggling to ski to visiting the theatre and reading.
