Clinical Negligence

Kerron is an experienced clinical negligence practitioner. He practises mainly in respect of claimants but has also has a substantial practice representing defendants.

He has experience of a wide range of cases involving negligent surgery, dental negligence, paramedic, GP, urogynaecological, and A&E negligence.

Kerron likes to meet the client wherever that is possible, and is keen to be involved in the case at an early stage. He finds it improves greatly the assessment of a case's merits and value, and puts the client at ease about the future progress of the case.

He makes himself available to instructing telephones at any time on the telephone, and is happy to provide informal advice regardless of whether he has been, or will be, instructed in the case. His key role is to instill confidence and reassurance in his instructing solicitor at all times.

Beyond the Bar

Away from work, Kerron has two children and when not spending time with them he is a keen fan of football and controversially elects to support a team from a different city than the one he lives in. When he is not dealing with abuse from Liverpool fans, he finds time to read and enjoy playing one or two sports.
