Criminal Overview

Benjamin Myers KC specializes in Business and Financial Crime, General Crime, Regulatory Law and Professional Discipline. Described as 'brilliant', 'extremely astute' 'a superb jury advocate and lawyer' with 'an exceptional ability to digest complex cases', he appears in courts and tribunals across the country and is ranked at the top of his field in crime and financial crime in Chambers Guide to the Legal Profession and in the Legal 500.

Recent cases include the defence of the neonatal nurse, Lucy Letby, tried for multiple murder and attempted murder; the defence of David Duckenfield, the police match commander at the Hillsborough Stadium tragedy, tried for gross negligence manslaughter; Operation Lunar, an HMRC investigation into a £330 million tax fraud; and R v Barton, a complex probate and accounting fraud and the leading Court of Appeal authority defining the test for dishonesty in English criminal law.

Currently, Ben is instructed on behalf of an individual facing trial in Operation Larkshot, a £260 million gold bullion money laundering investigation, and is engaged in advisory work in relation to the Grenfell Tower tragedy.

Ben deals with prosecutions by the CPS, the SFO, the OFT and other agencies and regulatory bodies. He is experienced in leading large teams in substantial, complex and sensitive cases, many of which have a high public profile.

Ben has been shortlisted as the Criminal and Extradition Silk of the Year in the Legal 500 Awards 2024.

He is highly regarded for his 'meticulous preparation' and his ability to formulate astute case strategy. He understands the pressures faced by his clients; whether that is because of their public status, the risk to their assets and reputation, their vulnerability and mental health, or more generally the impact of criminal proceedings upon their personal or professional life. He has advised and represented company directors, financial directors, investment managers, police officers, teachers, medical practitioners and public figures.

Ben is able to provide advice at all stages of proceedings, including pre-charge; challenging prosecutions from the earliest stages and thereafter. His work includes judicial review, privacy and media-related applications. He has a wide experience of appellate work and provides advice and representation on appeal.

Recommendations
